

EDITOR'S PREFACE

Dear Colleagues,

We would like to present, with great pleasure, the second edition of Annales Bogorienses Volume 24, Year 2020. At this edition, we presented 6 original papers that hopefully interesting to you and also important for life science research and improvements.

We would like to thank to all authors for their contributions and would like to encourage them and kindly invite all our loyal reader to submit your original papers regarding Biotechnology, Molecular Biology and Biochemistry to be published in our next editions. We are greatly appreciate the editors and reviewers for their efforts, attentions, and time throughout the editing process that make this current edition published in expected time.

We wish every success in your work and sure that all your hard work will make Annales Bogorienses even better.

The Editors

